From the Principal

The third nine-weeks have begun and we would like very much for all students to aim high so they may achieve the personal goal, which is to get promoted at the end of the school year. We believe that you would also like for your child(ren) to move to the next grade level. The final two grading periods are two of the most important and challenging times of our school term. Teachers are currently reviewing different types of performance data to identify students who are consistently not mastering grade-level standards. We want you to be aware that these students are in danger of having to repeat their present grade. They are required to make adequate progress during the second semester.

Parents, please check your child(ren's) work regularly. You will know whether they are meeting academic performance expectations. Our teachers are available to discuss your child(ren's) progress with you during the school day. We encourage you to schedule meetings with their teachers, the guidance counselor, or the principal. Your concerns may be discussed at the meeting. Our goal is to work together to find the best available strategies and resources to help your child(ren) improve academically.

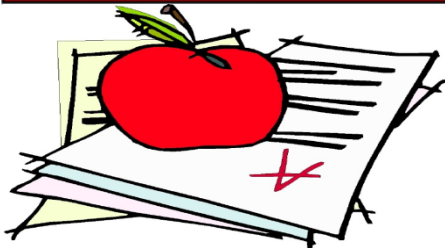

We want to thank you for your continued cooperation.
